95 It has been decided that, in future, officers who have 1916.
qualified as observers with the Royal Flying Corps in the field may, within the authorized establishment, be appointed Flying Officers (Observers) instead of passing through the intermediate grade of Qualified Observers.

As Flying Officers (Observers) they will receive pay at the rate of 12s. a day, and flying pay at 5s. a day under Article 226A, Pay Warrant, will be issued continuously while employed as observers in an area of active operations.

It has also been decided that officers so appointed shall take their places in the list of Flying Officers from the date on which they embark for overseas in the case to receive pay as Flying Officers (Observers) prior to the date of qualification.

Whilst serving as observers on probation they will receive flying pay at 5s. a day, under Article 226A, Pay Warrant.

 Territorial Force non-commissioned officers will take seniority within their rank, whether substantive or acting, according to the date of their promotion or appointment to that rank.

A.O. 405. History Sheets of Cordite.—1. With reference to 1916. Army Order 19F of 1916, and paragraphs 412 and 413,
 Regulations for Army Ordnance Services, Part II., further modifications regarding the supply and maintenance of History Sheets during the present war having been approved, the arrangements are now as follows :—

(1.) They will be supplied—

- (i) For all issues of ammunition made to India, Egypt, and the Colonies.
- (ii) For all fixed armaments, and for any cartridges that will certainly remain at Home Stations, except those for anti-aircraft detachments.

(2.) They will not be supplied—

- (iii) For ammunition issued for all field units overseas, except as provided for in (i).
- (iv) For reserves at home if for issue as in (iii). If issues from such reserves are made to India, Egypt and the Colonies, History Sheets will be prepared.

Army Orders.—December, 1916.(v) For anti-aircraft detachments at Home Stations. A.O. 405 1916

When anti-aircraft cartridges are returned to an Ordnance Store they should be brought to the notice of the Inspecting Ordnance Officer with a view to his ascertaining that none of them contain cordite over 3 years old. Until this can be done it is advisable, if circumstances permit, to keep such cartridges in isolation. continued.

The Inspecting Ordnance Officer can obtain information if required as regards the age of the cordite by referring the Lot Nos. to the Chief Inspector, Woolwich.

In the case of cordite over 3 years old, if such is to remain in store and not to be immediately reissued to anti-aircraft detachments, the Inspecting Ordnance Officer should report the Lot Nos. to the Chief Inspector, Woolwich, with a view to a History Sheet being started.

The object of this regulation is to prevent old cordite in some of the earlier types of anti-aircraft ammunition getting into a large Ordnance Store and being lost sight of. In such a case an ignition might have very serious consequence as compared to the damage which could occur in a small anti-aircraft temporary magazine or store.

2. Army Order 191 of 1916 is hereby cancelled.

* Instructions for fixing the interior bending block.

Place the bending block flush inside the left-hand front corner of the box, the broad side of the block (marked A) being in contact with the front. Find the position for the inside angle-plate by passing a pencil through the bolt holes of the bending block and marking both front and end of the inside of the box. Proceed to cut in or inlay the inside angle-plate so that it lies flush with the inner surface of the box. Bore the holes through the box where marked with pencil, place the inside and outside angle-irons and the block in position, insert the bolts, put on the nuts and tighten them with the screw wrench. In the final operation it may be found necessary (should the thickness of the wood of the box vary) to enlarge the holes in the angle-plates slightly to the right or left, this can easily be accomplished, if necessary with a file.
